Don't circulate the drafts so we can make fixes

Purpose of event

Double sided? Not everyone needs to know about both

Make photos more exclusive to the entertainment not the logo contest

Capitalize "Event"

Add Facebook Logo and twitter

Way of submission

Is registration required? No, more just for approximation

Make a shorter registration or put it on Facebook

*Do we want to keep Linguistic super star?

Phone number to call?

*Space indicator between 250 and 2nd

*Add a question mark after "Need $250"

The background makes the words hard to see

*Put "children's" on one line

"Desings" is spelled wrong "design"

*Submit your designs: to your provider, email to Michelle Karnath, To denote that it they are different opportunities

*Add Michelle's phone number

*Put the date in proper number

*The photos don't really inspire what we are looking for

What we want the logo to represent

What are the things that we want to represent?

 The community coming together

Take all of the stuff out of the back

*Maybe have one side be flashy and the other side should be fine print

Feedback from statewide FYSPRT

*Do we have any updates on how to create formal "complaints" that is paper copy apart of FYSPRT?

Question 1: Are there obstacles to helping families get through the WISE referral process? If yes, please summarize some of the obstacles encountered.

None of them took Jenny's insurance, learned about Catholic to get to it. The physician didn't know how to refer; only the psychologist did. There wasn't any info but you could make a call. State insurance is calling a ton of people to find one that would take it.

Rebecca: enrollment was good but service was slow to start, a provider that didn't fit the son's needs so then the process had to be start all over again. The provider wasn't very receptive of the needs and it was starting all over again and it was a hard set back. Change is hard and it's hard to warm up to someone. The intro process was good but hard to get settled.

At one point there was a large waiting list, but Catholic is doubling in size. Now there is no waiting list.

Screening times are really open, any time of the day. The family is not happy with the level, but the child doesn't meet the level of care. Katie is meeting with lots of hospitals and administrations.

Referrals for children who don't have Medicaid?

More knowledge and outreach so that mental health and dependency and primary care=changed when level 3 was brought in

You don't have to fail at a level to get bumped up

Warm hand offs are really important and the continuum of care is a need in this community

*The levels descriptions might lead to self-diagnosing

Question 2: What is (or could be) done to help youth and families get through the process most easily?

Question 3: What is working well around youth engagement in your region?

Question 4: What challenges are being addressed regionally?

Question 5: What challenges would you like to have a dialogue about at the Statewide FYSPRT?

FIMC Update

No preregistration. Public comment period before and end, then there will be presentations in the middle.

2017 Goals and Strategic Planning

Plan to develop local FYSPRTS if there is a need where geography is a challenge

Non-negotiable goal because it is in our contract

Previous goals: advocacy, public forums, decision makers, community projects, consistent meeting

What is our elevator speech and how do we define ourselves?

General and then you can tweak it for you region

A couple of different formats

*Video would be a cool elevator speech

Basics training=Unami=how to advocate

6 weeks, 2 hours

How to find resources

Children's home's society resource center=space or time to start there, underserved

Shows what's available in the community, compiling it would be helpful

If there are topics that we want to have presented on then we can have specific topics. More information for people

Youth topics

Advertising in the schools, especially health classes, student governments, the office

Draws: having a voice, a listening ear

Facebook events

Flier in youth words
